Authorized Participant Exit Questionnaire

Thank you for participating in our study. We are tremendously excited to have you help out. Please take a few moments to reflect on your testing experiences. Please note any information you provide is for internal research purposes only.

What features of the site were vague or confusing to you, if any?

none.

What is your impression about navigating the site? Does it seem easy or difficult? What makes it that way?

Easy. It's like a one page site.

Did you feel that anything was missing from the site you just tested today? What else should be included in the site design?

Maybe include a set of instructions for those who might get confused.

What did you like best about the site?

It was easy to use.

What did you like the least?

I don't have any reason to dislike anything.

Do you think some people would have problems using the web site?
What kinds of people? What kinds of problems?

No, the site seems pretty easy to use.

Would you like to make any other comments about what you tested today or about your current experiences with the existing California Emergency Alert System (if you use it)?

No.

Thank you for participating in our study. We are tremendously excited to have you help out. Please take a few moments to reflect on your testing experiences. Please note any information you provide is for internal research purposes only.

What features of the site were vague or confusing to you, if any?

None really.

What is your impression about navigating the site? Does it seem easy or difficult? What makes it that way?

It seems very easy.

Did you feel that anything was missing from the site you just tested today? What else should be included in the site design?

Maybe a simple one line explanation of what I should expect by signing up.

What did you like best about the site?

It's simplicity.

What did you like the least?

Nothing really, no complaints.

Do you think some people would have problems using the web site?
What kinds of people? What kinds of problems?

I can't imagine anyone having problems with the site, it's so simple.

Would you like to make any other comments about what you tested today or about your current experiences with the existing California Emergency Alert System (if you use it)?

I don't use it. I have nothing more on what I tested today.
